

Congressman Pence today congratulated Anderson University student Heather Prophet on being named the 2010 Charles and Hazel Dickmann award winner. The Congressman's letter follows:

Dear Heather,

It is my honor and privilege to congratulate you on receiving the Charles and Hazel Dickmann Scholarship. This honor is a testament to the commitment and dedication you have shown to making your education a top priority.

I am impressed to hear that you are not only a student at Anderson University, but also a wife, mother, and employee at your father's State Farm Office. It takes a lot of discipline and hard work to obtain academic achievements during such a busy season of life, and for that I applaud you. You are an inspiration to your peers all over the great state of Indiana, especially those in your community.

I encourage you to keep up the perseverance and good faith. I look forward to hearing of your future success.

Sincerely,
Mike Pence
